GLD - Global Large Detector

The Global Large Detector (GLD) models are described in these pages. The response of the detector to events is simulated using Geant4 using a runtime definition of the detector geometry in xml format. Each iteration of the design has a unique name, and the xml file and a plain english description will be linked from this page.

Huge HD3.1 Detector: rz view