This space is dedicated to the Matter in Extreme Conditions instrument of LCLS. It contains details on the instrument components and their use. The website contains restricted sections for staff-use only. The current organization is the following:

- Open access: sections 0 to 9
- Restricted to staff: sections 2.5, 10 and 11

Table of Content

Other important spaces

Matter in Extreme Conditions Instrument Page on slac.stanford.edu

- Please submit edits here (google docs), using comments or suggestions.

MEC SRD Confluence

Beam Delivery confluence

Recent space activity

Peregrine McGehee
Run 23: L-10425 [Martin] updated 2 minutes ago view change

Gilliss Dyer
8.8. Inventory updated about 3 hours ago view change

Eric M Galtier
9.6.2 SPL beam deliveries updated yesterday at 11:57 PM view change

Peregrine McGehee
7.2.4 Motor Status updated Aug 07, 2024 view change
7.2.2 Configuration for SPL and the August 2024 LPL EMP Tests updated Aug 06, 2024 view change

Space shortcuts

Beam alignment checklists

Space contributors

- Peregrine McGehee (2 minutes ago)
- Gilliss Dyer (3 hours ago)
- Eric M Galtier (14 hours ago)
- Arnott, Ariel (12 days ago)
- Welch, Marc E. (12 days ago)
- ...

MEC editors/admins

Below is the group list having maximal access to this page. If you feel you should be included then you can request membership through SLAC IT. Generally this is the MEC ops team including matrixed individuals.

>> Show/hide editors

Not rendered as you do not have the privilege to view user profiles.

>> Show/hide admins

Not rendered as you do not have the privilege to view user profiles.

Tasks assigned in meeting notes

Task report

Looking good, no incomplete tasks.