How do I set the random seed

This command is used to seed the random engine with the number 12345.

```
/random/seed 12345
```

With no argument, the random engine is seeded with the current time in milliseconds.

```
/random/seed
```

The -d command is the corresponding command line switch.