How can I get help on the command line interface

Use the command slic -h to print the command line usage to the terminal.