Thrulay

Thrulay is a TCP network performance measurement tool/probe. It is similar to Iperf & miperf. It is available at the SourceForge Thrulay site.

Experience

Its main advantages compared to iperf are that we have found it more stable than iperf (i.e. does not run into the "too many sockets" problem that iperf experiences), and it also reports the Round Trip Time.