

Tests with "butted" edge sensors

Modules with butted edged sensors are going to be constructed, in order to test the interface between two sensors. Beam tests would benefit from a higher resolution telescope. Chris Kenney will do the assembly.