

SVN repository now on AFS

Yesterday we moved our SVN repository. There is a symbolic link at the old location pointing to the new. I've updated the Confluence page on the repository.

The e-mail from Jim:

Hi all,

Currently the SVN repo for the RCE is in /reg/g/npa/svnrepo on the main server in the rack. This does not seem to be well backed up, so we are going to move it to an AFS partition that Ric set up.

Your SVNROOT variable is currently: <file:///reg/g/npa/svnrepo>
The new location will be <file:///afs/slac/g/cci/svnrepo>

I plan on making this move after COB today (probably starting around 6:30) if there are no objections.
